HEAVY CHARGE OF DYNAMITE DISCOVERED ON WEBSTER BRIDGE

Miner on Way to Work Likely Saves Structure From Heavy Damage

EXPLOSIVE PLACED UNDER RAILS

Early last Saturday morning while a miner was on his way to his work from Donora to the mines in Webster, he discovered a number of percussion caps on the street car rail which cross the Donora-Webster bridge. Making a closer inspection and examination he found that the caps were connected with a heavy charge of dynamite which was located under the rail, a charge sufficient to have wrecked that portion of the bridge. The charge was located at the Webster end of the bridge, and fortunately was discovered at a time before the usual traffic had started its flow over the structure. Quite a number of heavy trucks are in constant use on this bridge, hauling coal from mines on the Webster side of the river to the Donora mills, and if one of them had set off the charge there would likely have been a terrific explosion, with a consequent heavy loss of property.

The miner, who is said to be a union man, took the caps from the charge, and removed the dynamite, carrying the entire package with him to his work. In the evening he brought the dynamite and caps to the Donora police station and turned them over to the police officials.

An immediate investigation was at once set under way, and inquiries made as to where the purchase of the dynamite was made. It is said that the police have a good clue and it is possible that arrests may be made within a very short time. The incident caused quite a lot of comment in Donora, as an explosion on this bridge would have tied up considerable important traffic at this time. It is possible the bridge will be patrolled from now on in order to prevent any possibility of such a thing happening again.

ORDINANCE IS SIGNED

Citizens Meet to Discuss Present Conditions in Borough

MOVE A PRECAUTIONARY ONE

A citizens meeting with some forty of the leading men of the community present, was held in the public meeting room of the borough building at 10:30 this morning, to discuss conditions as they exist in Charleoi today, due to the pending strike of the steel workers. It was the consensus of opinion of those present that precautionary measures should be taken at the present time, before it is too late to prevent any occurrence that might lead to some trouble.

The ordinance regulating the holding of public meetings, and requiring the Burgess to issue permits when he is satisfied that these proposed meetings are not against public interests, was discussed and opinion was in its favor. Contrary to the generally accepted opinion, the ordinance does not prevent public meetings, but regulates them. It is understood the Burgess approved the measure later, after a meeting with Council.

The citizens' meeting adopted the following resolution:

"In view of the fact that there have been acts of violence in our immediate vicinity and to prevent a recurrence of same we recommend to Council that additional policemen be secured for such a time as they feel necessary.

"We further recommend that all the citizens of our borough aid and assist our Burgess in maintaining law and order."

Benjamin Wolfbrand, son of Harry Wolfbrand, of Meadow avenue, was taken to the Eye and Ear hospital, Sunday for attention to one of his eyes which was severely injured while he was chopping wood on Saturday. The injury was very painful. The hospital today says the member will be saved.

Uniontown Is the Victor In Stubbornly Fought Game

Saturday afternoon, in one of the most fiercely contested games played on the local field this year the Charleoi High school football team was defeated by the strong Uniontown High school team. The teams were more evenly matched than the score indicates, and Uniontown had to fight for their goals.

In the first half neither team was able to make any headway and each team constantly lost the ball on downs. The local team's end runs, which are generally effective, were broken up by the good work of the Uniontown ends. Lloyd and Funk, the latter especially, who is a giant in stature, being particularly clever in this work.

In the third quarter Uniontown made their first goal. They had shoved Charleoi back almost to the goal line and then the local team braced and gained the ball on downs. A forward pass was then attempted, but the pass was intercepted by a Uniontown player and resulted in a touchdown. They failed to kick goal. In this quarter Joe Martucci was injured and forced to leave the game.

In the fourth quarter two more touchdowns were made by Uniontown, one of them being made by a forward pass, and the other by line plunging. The team which opposed Uniontown in this quarter was quite different from the one which started the game. Hill and O'Brien were taken out in the third quarter, Wagner was injured in the ribs, and the rest of the team was quite fagged out. Nevertheless they fought to the finish. Uniontown failed to kick two of the touchdowns.

Weaver was sorely disappointed in the outcome and expressed his regret that he was not able to play against Washington next Saturday, but their joy was turned to sorrow because of injuries to other players which will keep them out of next Saturday's game.

Brown, Wagner and McKenna played a good game for the local team, and Lloyd, Funk, Francis and Fogg starred for Uniontown.

After the game was over the referee was followed out of the field by a crowd of spectators who claimed that he did not render just decisions and as he was walking up Second street they assaulted him, but he ran to the schoolhouse before much harm could be done to him. The school authorities regret this occurrence very much and they intend to prosecute.

FLOOD IN CREEK DOES DAMAGE TO BRIDGE

The heavy rain of Sunday noon caused such a sudden rise in Pigeon creek that it washed out a number of timbers which supported the bridge across that stream near Frye station, just outside Monongahela. The sweeping away of the timbers tilted the bridge a little and made it somewhat dangerous for machines in crossing.

SHOOTING AT DONORA

Incident Caused by Fear
That Strikers Were
After Them

OFFICERS WANTED 2 SUSPECTS

A shooting affray occurred in Donora Saturday night about 11 o'clock, which caused considerable excitement for a time, and which was finally quelled by the State Police who shortly after arrived on the scene, followed by explanations which cleared up a situation that for a time looked very serious. Over one hundred shots were fired and great excitement prevailed.

The incident was caused by a number of Deputy Sheriffs going to the home of Silas Marshall, at 14th street, between 11 and 12 o'clock Saturday night to look for a colored couple who earlier in the evening held up and robbed a number of miners and others at Boyd's ferry, just below Donora. The officers learned that the couple had gone to the Marshall home and went there to get them. Quite a number of colored men who work at the Donora mills board at the Marshall home, and hearing the officers on the outside thought they were strikers, and began shooting. The officers returned the fire and were peppered away when the State Police arrived on the scene.

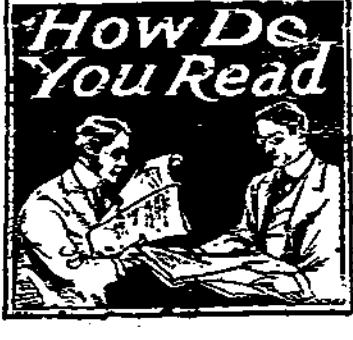

The deputies explained their mission and after being admitted to the house arrested Arthur Tiptels and Grace Wright, as well as Marshall and another colored man, all of whom it is charged were implicated in the hold-up game at the ferry earlier in the evening. They are being held pending an investigation.

THE IMPENDING STRIKE

Unless there is some intervention on the part of the government it is believed there will be a total suspension of bituminous coal mining beginning with the first day of November. The entire system of mining, it is proposed, shall suspend operations on that day to remain idle for an indefinite period. The miners' union has made certain demands with references to a change in hours and wages that the operators say they cannot meet, and as there appears to be no middle ground, the only alternative appears to be a suspension of labor.

Of course it is not expected that all industries will shut down for some time, even if the strike should be prolonged, because of the large stock of coal now on hand, but even this supply will not hold out indefinitely, and their continued operation will depend materially on the length of the suspension.

The public, however, views the coming strike with apprehension, coming as it does so closely after the strike called by steel workers, a fact which only adds to the general unrest now so prevalent throughout this country. The near approach of winter, when coal is more universally used for domestic purposes than in other seasons, gives the householder somewhat of a chill when he contemplates what might be in store, but there is an optimistic strain running through the present status of affairs which gives hope that out of this turmoil a way will be found eventually toward peace, and a more settled state of affairs. The people will have to be patient, waiting for the better time to come, which we have no doubt will eventually arrive.

COURTEOUS TREATMENT

The Augusta Chronicle in its issue of September 25 last, made this comment on the management of the railroads:

"I have heard—you have heard—that since the federal railroad administration came in railroad men have become less courteous than they used to be under private ownership.

"But that is just an added slap to the hits at government ownership. Not that I believe in federal ownership. But I do care for a square deal.

"In the interest of another, I yesterday had occasion to seek information from twelve or fifteen railroad men in Augusta—from the heads of the highest departments to clerks in the lesser offices.

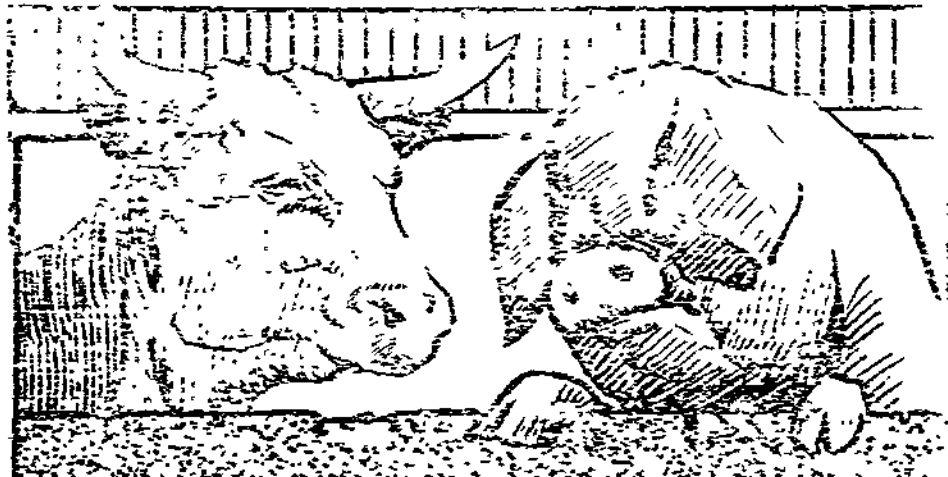

"There was rapid calls and quick responses over the telephone for nearly an hour. I can not recall when there was such cordiality in replies, or such willingness, even eagerness, to co-operate. The matter was not a business one but had to do with locating a railroad man or securing his best mail address. But each man with whom communication was established, if he did not himself possess the information sought, suggested some way in which it might possibly be gotten and each went out of his way, it appeared, to try to help.

"The courtesy and kindness shown was so marked that I mentioned it during the afternoon to several persons and the comment was that what was true in the instance to which reference was made was really characteristic of railroad men elsewhere as well as in Augusta."

CHARITY NEVER FAILETH

In spite of the fact that we have industrial unrest, and in spite of the fact that we have strikes now existing and other impending, the people never fail to respond to the appeals of charity. Throughout the period of all these labor disputes there have been campaigns under way raising money for various purposes of a charitable character, and the response has always been generous. Of late we have had the campaign of the Salvation Army more recently of the Jewish War Relief committee, and today the campaign for the Catholic Charities Fund comes to a close. All of these appeals have been carried directly to the people, and they have responded in a manner that has been surprising. Thousands upon thousands of dollars have been contributed, and all with a most generous spirit, showing that in spite of the labor difficulties, which have attracted nationwide attention, the people do not forget the appeal for those who have been less fortunate than themselves and who must depend upon others for the food and the raiment they require from day to day. As the good book says, "Charity never faileth."

The fear that a world meat shortage would follow in the wake of the war was unfounded. These statistics just completed show it. Cattle and swine are the two principal meat animals. All of the European countries show a decrease but the United States, Canada and other countries show an increase to offset such losses.

ands of dollars have been contributed, and all with a most generous spirit, showing that in spite of the labor difficulties, which have attracted nationwide attention, the people do not forget the appeal for those who have been less fortunate than themselves and who must depend upon others for the food and the raiment they require from day to day. The daylight saving law passed in to the discard Sunday morning, and many are the regrets at its passing. A number of communities desire to establish it again next season, but it is a question if any successful attempt will be made unless Congress shall again pass such a law.

There is always something to take the joy out of life. While pork shows a tendency to get down to something like living prices, butter and eggs are preparing to make a break the other way. Life is certainly one thing after another.

Lieutenant Edward Steinman, Jr., surprised his parents and friends in Fayette City last week, by arriving home Monday evening last on the 9:18 train. He came home on a few days' leave of absence and returned to Camp Taylor, Ky., on Friday. He expects to be mustered out of the service the latter part of the week, after which he will return home and to civilian life.

A birthday party in honor of Paul Manon was tendered him at his home on Sunday, ten of his friends being guests. Decorations were of the hallo-wen order, and a very enjoyable time was spent by the honored guest and his friends.

Robespierre's Curious Watch.
The number of watches of various kinds and size and value which are now seen in the windows of the jeweler-watchmakers of Paris reminds a correspondent of the property of Robespierre, and which the correspondent saw at an exhibition of curios. It surely should have long ago found its place in the Carnavalet. The watch was in the shape of a pear and of the size of one, and was made of silver. It opened in the center, the face being in the lower section, while the top section was ornamented with pear leaves wrought in silver. A watch the size of a pear, and a good deal better, is plainly indicative of somewhat bizarre tastes on the part of the "Friend of the People." That is, at any rate, now it strikes the correspondent.—Christian Science Monitor.

Kitchener's Dog.
Lord Kitchener's favorite dog, which he left in the hands of Admiral Grant before embarking on the cruiser Hampshire, is believed to have become a good Australian. Admiral Grant, who has been appointed first naval member of the Australian naval board, brought Kitchener's pet to the Commonwealth on board the battle cruiser Australia. Ordinarily the Commonwealth does not encourage the landing of cats and dogs from overseas, but Australia holds Kitchener in such dear memory that one may safely conjecture that exception will be made in this instance.

PALACE A TOWN IN ITSELF

More Than Fourteen Hundred Rooms in Vienna Home of Ex-Emperor of Austria.

There are 1,440 rooms in the city palace formerly occupied by the emperor of Austria, in Vienna. It is also equipped with 100 kitchens and the courtyard covers 25,000 meters. The massive doric columns at the outside entrance were constructed by Peter von Hobil in 1821-24. Through these one enters the "Palace of Heroes," outside the castle ward. A new wing was added here in 1887-94. The inner walls are of the Renaissance style, by Ohlmann and Baumann, and were completed in 1917. Further on, toward the eastern side of the ground, is the Heldenplatz, where stand two exquisite monuments, the largest in the capital. The one on the left is that of Prince Eugene, while that on the right is of the Archduke Charles, who defeated Napoleon at Aspern.

A Roman ruin of ancient date is seen in the castle grounds. It is characteristic of the Roman conquerors, but is so dilapidated that but two or three of the portals remain, the others being nothing but crumbled stone. A tall arch is the best preserved part of the ruin.

Near the Roman ruin is a great obelisk, resembling a needle more than most monuments of the kind. The top is finished in gilt. The sides bear hieroglyphics of the history of Austria. Near it is the glorious Neptune fountain, and from Schene Brunner (beautiful fountain) the castle grounds derived their name, Schonbrunn.

RED TAPE FINALLY UNWOUND

For a Time It Had Sergt. Hayes Tied Up, But He Came Out a Lieutenant.

Once upon a time there was a man who "fired" his employees that he might have the pleasure of hiring them over again. That would seem to be somewhat the way with the marine corps. It "fires" its men that the government may do them special honor.

Sergt. Edgar Hayes, a red-blooded patriot of the marine corps, overheard an asperser upon the uniform of his service. Sergeant Hayes promptly hit the speaker in the nose. The marine corps sat upon his case in solemn court-martial, and after much deliberation dismissed Sergeant Hayes from the service, thus creating civil disabilities. The case later was reviewed by the president, who pardoned Hayes and restored him to citizenship. Hayes has now been restored to the service and created a first lieutenant, an act of congress having empowered the president to make the appointment.

It is a roundabout way of doing a man honor. And it shows something wrong with the system. We wonder what the dignified gentlemen of the court-martial would have done if it had been proved that Sergeant Hayes, now Lieutenant Hayes, having overheard an asperser upon his honorable service, had condoned it by inaction.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

The Green Sawyer.
Gen. Marlborough Churchill was talking in Washington about the work of the intelligence department, of which he is the head.

"It is delicate work," Gen. Marlborough Churchill said, "work that requires experience. The inexperienced intelligence officer—and we had a lot of him during the war—is apt to be about as useful as the young college man in the lumber camp."

"This college man was set to work on a cross-saw with an old-stager. He saved pretty well for an hour or so, and then his strength gave out. Still he kept on, or tried to keep on, but all of a sudden the old-stager stopped. 'Soo,' he said, 'I don't mind yer ridin' on the saw, but if it's jest the same to you, I'll ast ye to keep yer foot off the ground.'"

"PEANUT" UNIT LOOKED GOOD

But After Receiving Letter From Agricultural Department "City Sucker" Did Not Invest.

A City man got a very glowing circular from a Chicago "Development company" offering him ten acres of land in Florida for the surprisingly small sum of $274—a "peanut unit," the circular called it. He could grow, the circular said, a thousand bushels of peanuts on his ten acres and could sell the peanuts at 10¢ a bushel for a profit of $274. The city man was impressed; but he sent the circular to the department of agriculture, with a query as to whether or not the investment was a good one.

Following are some sentences from the letter he got in reply: "The literature is of the kind designed to deceive city people in the North and West who do not know anything about farming." "The average return from ten acres of peanuts would not exceed $200 to $300." "You could buy a 100-acre farm in almost any of the counties of western Florida, including the one mentioned in the circular, for the price these people ask for ten acres."

"The whole 'unit' system, whether it is pecans, peaches, figs, cane, peanuts, bogs, or what not, is simply a means of selling land at three to five times what it is worth to ignorant or unwary small investors." "To pay $274 for this ten acres of land would stamp you as a 'sucker' of the rankiest class."—Exchange.

SHARK TO FURNISH LEATHER

Investigation Has Shown That Skin of Sea Monster Has a Very Definite Value.

Although the personal popularity of sharks is not likely soon to increase, their existence will be more completely accepted if the work already done through the agency of the United States government continues its progress toward proving sharkskin a good substitute for leather. The effort was begun in 1916, and it has been shown that the skin of a shark can be tanned by newly discovered processes with a result much like a superior grade of leather. Commercial tanneries are beginning to turn out the product. Shoes made of it are being worn; and, like the pig, of which everything is utilized but the squeal, the shark has been found generous in by-products. The bureau of standards is now experimenting with shark leather to determine its durability, tensile strength, and wearing and water-resisting qualities; but enough has been done to indicate that many persons in the future will go shod in shark leather, and that only those who are told will know the difference.

New Bridges Breathe.
Like us mortals, big steel bridges feel the changes in the weather, and must be built to withstand them, or perish.

In the heat of summer a bridge is appreciably longer than it is in winter, and at various times of the year it may be longer on one side than on the other, as when a hot sun plays on one flank, and a cold wind on the other.

The "breathing apparatus" of a bridge consists of rollers under the feet at one end so that the end can move to and fro freely according to the expansion and contraction of the huge girders.

Provision is made in the case of the Forth bridge for as much as two feet of "breathing" of the immense cantilevers.

High Temperature May Mislead.
High temperature does not always mean fever, for the body heat may be increased by exercise or eating, and a rise of as much as 1.5 degrees Fahrenheit has been traced to mental work. Dr. F. B. Wynn of Indianapolis reports that drafted men before examination showed an average rise of 0.3 degrees from the anxiety and suspense, with a corresponding depression below normal after examination. In 40 nurses the fall after examination averaged 0.6 degrees. The psychic rise plus the daily variation may lead to false conclusions if the physician is not careful.

His Mistake.
Flatbush—You know my wife and her sister look very much alike. Bensonhurst—Oh, is that so?
"Yes, whist, the other day I got a seat in a crowded trolley car, and when I got off my sister-in-law was also getting off the same car and she gave me Hall Columbia for not getting up and offering her my seat."
"Well, why didn't you offer her your seat? Didn't you know her?"
"No, I didn't. I really thought it was my wife."—Yonkers Statesman.

Even the Seal.
It is one of the disillusionments experienced by most sojourners on this planet that the wonderful places of childhood's enjoyment are found to have shrunk amazingly on being revisited in after years. Even the small people find that imagination plays tricks with them, and are driven to some such remark as that of the little girl who, on being taken back to the seaside after two years or so, exclaimed: "It's not the same, mammy darling. It's gone out of shape."

Farm Lands Grow in Value.
The value of farm lands is increasing steadily in the United States, the average for average grade plow lands being about $74.31 per acre on March 1, as compared with $68.38 a year ago, $62.17 two years ago, and $53.89 three years ago.

It has cured her nervousness and she is able to sleep the night through and feels rested when she gets up in the morning. Plant Juice is a fine medicine and we are glad to recommend it. Plant Juice cleanses, strengthens and revitalizes the whole system. It purifies the blood of poisons and impurities, puts the lazy liver to work, regulates the bowels, strengthens the kidneys and tones up the digestive organs. It sharpens the appetite and promotes sound, restful sleep. Plant Juice is sold in Charleroi at Henning's Drug Store. Majestic coming "OH BOY—Oh Naughtee; but aren't they nice girls. 119-11

That Plant Juice is really success, is proven every day by the large number of testimonials received from people in signed statements as to the benefits they have received from the use of this great remedy. Like Mr. Jesse Tillon who lives at 211 E. Main St., Pittsburg, and who is a chauffeur by occupation. He said: "For three or four years my wife's health has been very poor. Her stomach was in a very weak condition so that she could scarcely keep any food in it. She had headaches, could not sleep at night and was very nervous and all run-down. She seemed to be growing worse and never improved until I got a bottle of Plant Juice for her, as it had been recommended to me very highly. From the first dose

GIRL DROWNED NEAR ELLA MINE

Florence Elco, aged 10 years, daughter of Mrs. Mary Elco who lives at the Ella mine, below Webster, was drowned in the run of Dags' hollow Sunday morning shortly after 11 o'clock. The little girl, in company with her sister Mabel, was playing along the edge of the water, Florence standing on a stone. The stone being wet she slipped into the water, when she called to her sister Mabel to help her. The sister not dreaming the water was so deep, and thinking her sister was only playing, failed to give instant assistance and the girl was swept away in the flood and drowned. Later in the evening the body of the girl was found about a mile and a half below where the accident happened and taken to Donora, where it was prepared for burial.

PLAN RELIEF FOR MEN, NOW ON STRIKE

Plans for provisioning needy strikers and their families have been completed by representatives of the national committee, and will be put into operation this week. They provide that commissaries will be established at strike headquarters in every community where the men are out, ration cards being issued to families of six or more persons after investigation by the local committee. Two distributions of food per week is provided to be made.

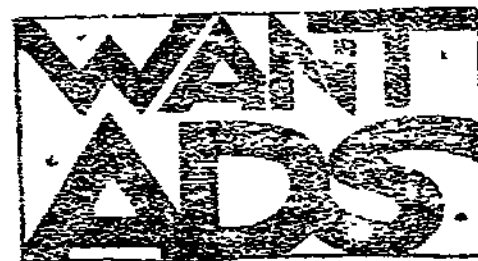

HEAVY STORM IN COUNTY ON SUNDAY

A heavy rain storm visited portions of Washington county Sunday forenoon, and at some points caused considerable damage. A washout occurred on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Zediker station, and it required considerable work to repair the damage. The rainfall was also heavy in the Pigeon creek valley, the water being quite high in the creek, but no great damage was done.

CARNEGIE STEEL HOOP OPENED THIS MORNING

The Carnegie Steel hoop mill in Monessen, the last plant in that town to resume, began operations this morning and according to mill officials, everything was moving along very satisfactory. Quite a number of old employees returned to work, and it is intimated this number will be increased from day to day during the week.

Miss Mildred Burd returned home Sunday from Uniontown, after a visit with her aunt, Mrs. A. R. Wyatt.

CALIFORNIA WINS ITS THIRD GAME

In a slow, ragged and uninteresting game on Saturday the California Normal School team won its third straight game of the season, defeating Fayette City 19 to 0. The only thrill of the game came in the first minute of play, when California receiving the kick-off worked the criss-cross and Edwards toiled the ball for ninety yards to a touchdown. From this time on the game was slow. The other two touchdowns were made by Kilims and Smith in the third and fourth quarters. California Normal showed a decided slump in her playing and should have piled up a much larger score. Fayette City while perhaps the heaviest team seen on the field this year was outclassed in every department. Followers of the Normal team are somewhat concerned over the evident slump. The games with Slippery Rock Normal, Indiana Normal and West Virginia Reserves are yet to come. It has been freely predicted that California would be found on the heavy end of the scoring in all three of these games but it is realized that this will not be true unless a better brand of ball is played than that shown in the latest game. It is hoped however that with stronger opposition the team will produce more of the kind of ball of which it is capable.

SMALL MINES ARE NOW QUITE BUSY

The threatened coal strike, scheduled to begin next Saturday, is causing quite a stimulation among the smaller pick mines which were so active during the period of the war. The larger mines have their output taken by the larger industrial plants, thus leaving the small mines to take care of the domestic trade. As winter is rapidly approaching housekeepers are naturally apprehensive about the fuel supply and consequently are looking well to their store of coal. It is intimated that many of the small mines, employing but a few men, may remain in operation, taking care of domestic trade, but of this there is no certainty.

Wedding Ring Is Changed.
The wedding ring was not always plain, as we see it today. It was frequently highly ornamented and wrought with various designs. But as other rings began to be worn the wedding ring was made conspicuously plain. The practice, however, was long in vogue of inscribing appropriate mottoes on rings. The ring may be said to be symbolic. It is of gold and typifies purity and refinement, whereas its rotundity signifies "the round flowing of mutual love and hearty affection."

As Nature Arranges Them.
If you want to color beautifully, color as best pleases you at quiet times, not so as to catch the eye, nor to look as if it was clever or difficult to color in that way, but so that the color may be pleasant to you when you are happy and thoughtful. Look much at the morning and the evening sky, and much at simple flowers—dog-rose, wood hyacinth, violets, poppies, thistles, heather and such-like—as nature arranges them in the woods and fields.—Ruskin.

Porcupine's Quills Not "Thrown."
The spine of a porcupine, in the usual position, he nearly flat, with their points directed backward, but when the animal is excited they are capable of being raised. The quills are loosely inserted in the skin and may, on being violently shaken, become detached, a circumstance which probably gave rise to the purely fabulous statement that the animal possesses the power of actually ejecting its quills like arrows or darts at an enemy.

Gem Has Tragic History.
The "Regent" diamond, which is treasured in Paris, and is the queen of all the French national gems, was picked up in 1701 at the Partee mines on the Kistna, by a slave, who, concealing it in a hole cut for its reception in his thigh, escaped with it to the coast. Here he sold it to an English skipper, who, instead of paying the small sum demanded, treacherously killed the slave.

Flamingo Nearing Extinction.
The flamingo's happy hunting ground used to be throughout Florida and many lovely members of its family could be met with in the other hot countries. Very few of them are left now, however, anywhere in this country and many bird lovers predict that in a few years more they will have been killed off until they will be extinct.

Try This Way.
If some one has been unkind to us be kind to others. The great law will bring him a harvest of what he has sown. If we undertake to pay him back, evil for evil, we overstep our authority, and we also make ourselves liable to judgment for the part we take in the affair. We could just as well do something that would bring us a reward.

Antiquity of the Emerald.
The emerald has been known since early times both in Europe and in certain parts of the Orient, where its attractive color and rarity have endowed it with the highest rank. Its name may be traced back to an old word, which appeared in Greek as smaragdus mentioned in Greek as Theophrastus 300 B. C.

Australian Aborigines.
As a hunter the native Australian is marvellously adjusted to his environment. His success lies in an intimate knowledge of the habits of animals. Any animal which leaves a track, however dim, in sand, on rock, or in grass falls an easy prey to the black fellow. Children are taught to track lizards and snakes over bare rocks.

Ancient Elevator.
The earliest mention of a device in any way resembling the modern elevator may be read in Vitruvius, who describes a hoisting machine invented by Archimedes. The elevator of the second century B. C. was worked by ropes coiled upon a winding drum by a capstan and levers.

The custom of throwing an old shoe after a bride is quite misapplied when it is done by her companions for luck. According to the spirit of the ceremony, which is of very ancient origin, it should be done by the parent or guardian of the bride as indicating a renunciation of all authority over her.

Correspondent Answered.
Roger sends a clipped advertisement running: "Lost—Laborer's watch on road near pumping station," and wants to know wherein a laborer's watch differs from a banker's watch. Perhaps its hands are calloused. Roger.—Boston Transcript.

Wanted More "Bee Jelly."
When Howard was visiting grandma he was given his first taste of honey spread on bread and butter. He liked it so much that upon arriving for a second visit he rushed in exclaiming, "O, grandma, can I have a piece of bread and butter with bee jelly on it?"

Aluminum From Lambdor Stone.
A factory in Norway claims to obtain aluminum from Lambdor stone, therefore regarded as valuable.

Indian Gamblers.
Although the natives of India do not operate on the stock market, they have adopted a unique form of gambling for which the market reports are responsible. Every day five quota are set aside from New York announcing the quota. The natives looked upon this as a direct invitation to them to establish a simple but none the less absorbing form of gambling. The gambling consists simply in guessing what the five figures will amount to and in getting nearest to the right amount takes the stakes.

Nineveh's Pathetic Ruins.
Past Mosul the river Tigris rolls its ancient, almost legendary, waters and opposite on the left bank, the dream of antiquity continues undisturbed. There in the blazing sun or in the shimmering Persian moonlight, lie the ruins of Nineveh, the last and greatest capital of the Assyrian empire. The wall of the disappeared city still stands to a height of 50 feet and is 12 miles in circumference. Close by the bank of the river are the still imposing remains of two citadels.

Economy in Telephone Use.
A Brazilian newspaper has been for some time enjoying the privilege of using one telephone line for three simultaneous conversations. With three telephone sets at each end of the line, one pair of users talks English, one pair French, and one pair Portuguese. The listeners seem to find no difficulty in selecting the sounds intelligible to them and ignoring the others. The newspaper people express great satisfaction with the result, especially as they pay for only one line.

A Characterization.
She was a woman of experience at least if not of wisdom, with strong passions, but with a not ungenerous heart; outspoken from the knowledge of her "great possessions," perhaps as much as from a natural frankness; a warm friend and not a very bitter enemy; and at the bottom of it all with a certain simplicity of character of which her love of flowers was an example.—James Payne.

Too Good for Daily Use.
We must have a weak spot or two in a character before we can love it much. People that do not laugh or cry, or take more of anything than is good for them, or use anything but dictionary words, are admirable subjects for biographies. But we don't care most for those flat-pattern flowers that press best in the herbarium.—O. W. Holmes.

Cultivate Worthy Thoughts.
Such are the habitual thoughts, such also will be the character of the mind: for the soul is dyed by the thoughts. Dye it, then, with a continuous series of such thoughts as these: for instance, that where a man can live, there he can also live well. But he must live in a palace; well then, he can also live well in a palace.—Exchange.

Antiquity of Gloves.
Gloves are of great antiquity, having been worn in England as long ago as in Saxon times. Practically the only change which there has ever been in styles of gloves has been in their decoration. Sometimes they were richly adorned with jewels, as having been paid for a pair in the fourteenth century.—St. Peterburg Times.

Coal Preserved by Water.
The advantage of storing coal under water, where deterioration is much less than in the air, has been amply proved. It is recognized that the gases concealed in the pores of the coal—oxygen in particular—are responsible for both heating and deterioration, and their escape should be prevented as far as possible.

To Polish Glass.
A good polishing powder is made of rock alum, burned and finely powdered, five parts; levigated chalk, one part; mix and apply with a dry brush. There is nothing better to polish glass than chamois leather, or velvet. They should be kept entirely free from dust, or grit.

To remove slight scratches from plate glass, first clean the surface by gently rubbing with a pad of cotton-wool; then cover the pad with cotton velvet, rubbed with fine rouge. This will not only remove the scratches, but will also impart great brilliancy to the glass.

Cork Inventor's Name.
The so-called cork legs do not owe their name to the cork composition, but to the fact that their inventor was a Dr. Cork.

Polyglo Switzerland.
French Italian and German are the chief languages spoken in Switzerland, each predominating in sections bordering the respective countries.

Head Work.
Two heads are certainly better than one for a barrel.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Daily Thought.
Philosophy is nothing but discretion.—John Selden
